

Marriott of Phoenix is very happy
to host this year's SBC Convention.
You'll notice we recarpeted
the main hall in preparation for what we hope will be a rapturous and completely satisfying occasion.
Ask your servers for coffee and soda.
Ask each other where you're from.
If you are uncomfortable, tell us.
We'll change the temperature.
There are so many of you.
You are all so well-dressed.
Your children,
they must really be something. Tell us about them. Please,
no smoking.
Please don't think the staff is in back, "behind the scenes," weeping. They're not.
If you've made a mess, tell us.
We'll put something over it.
The sod outside by the sign
is just beginning to seed.
Enjoy the Indian wild flowers.
Enjoy the aviary, the red birds.
The waterfall in the atrium
can be any color you like.
We need you right now.
We have no one.
We're running.
We're lining up the help:
The salads are coming.
The sausages and the bisque are coming.
The servers are applying cosmetics. They are reeking of diet cola.
Our team wishes you a happy birthday, SBC.

Let's make this year's convention
one to remember
